REFUND AND EXCHANGE POLICY

We believe in our products sold. Provided that the products are unused and unopened, you shall have the right to request for a refund within ten (10) business days from the date the products were sold ("cooling off period").

Upon the expiry of the cooling off period, should you be unsatisfied with the products purchased, you shall have the right to exchange the products with a product of similar value within thirty (30) days from the date of purchase so long as (a) the goods are returned in good and resalable condition similar to the time of purchase; (b) the products shall have less than half their shelf life unexpired as the date of receipt and (c) there is adequate proof of purchase.

In addition, we will accept product returns and provide you with a refund where (a) the product is faulty or is not of acceptable quality (b) the product is significantly different to those shown or described to you (c) the product is not fit for its intended purpose or (d) the product is unsafe. Please note that in order for us to process such refunds, you have to show there is adequate proof of purchase.
